International Human Rights Day is observed annually on December 10th to commemorate the adoption of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights by the United Nations General Assembly in 1948. This declaration outlines the basic human rights and freedoms that should be afforded to every person, regardless of race, gender, religion, or any other status.

On this day, people around the world come together to promote and defend human rights. Many organizations and governments hold events and activities to raise awareness about human rights issues and encourage action to protect and promote human rights. Some typical activities that may take place on International Human Rights Day include:
